About Us

Sibert is a company firmly established in the design, development and manufacture of special purpose machinery and equipment. Sibert began as a family business in Surrey over 30 years ago. Their International HQ is now based in Hampshire, UK.

Core processes are combined with automation, material handling, optical and measurement technologies to improve control and productivity.

Sibert's expansion into new markets and developing new products in 2009 has enabled the growing global team to be a more successful international company into the next decade and beyond!
